

WHY WE NEED TRAILS

Studies have confirmed that recreation and trails are important to the residents of the Truckee Meadows. Trails are a way of life, and provide many benefits:

- a healthier community
- a thriving economy
- improve quality of life
- foster a community sense of place
- transportation alternatives

Truckee Meadows Trails

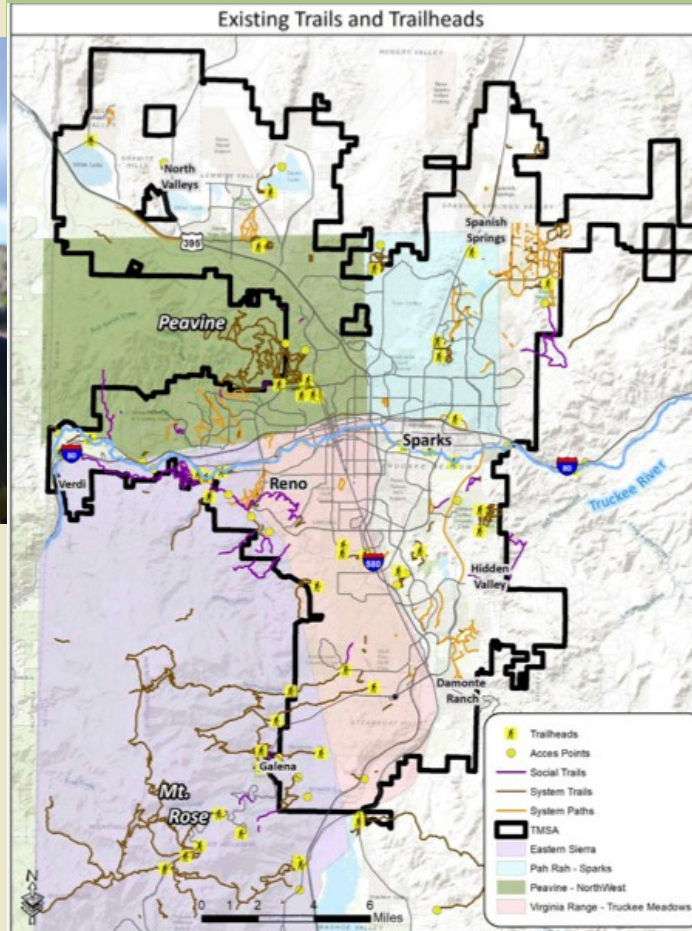

A Healthy Truckee Meadows Community Connected by Trails

A group of four people, likely field researchers or geologists, are walking away from the camera on a dirt path through a dry, hilly landscape. They are wearing hard hats and carrying equipment, including backpacks and long-handled tools. The terrain is covered in low-lying, scrubby vegetation, and the sky is bright with scattered clouds.

TRUCKEE MEADOWS TRAILS PLAN AND REPORT

- Create a regional trail network connected with public lands.
- Ensure high quality user experiences on trails.
- Promote Truckee Meadows natural, cultural and recreational resources.
- Coordinate and support trail-planning efforts with community partners.

- Priority projects for both new trails and the maintenance of existing trails.
- Detailed maps of priority trail projects.
- Land management agency adoption of the TMT plan so new development always includes trails.
- Maintenance agreements that allow trail crews to work between jurisdictions.
- Trail construction, signage, and way-finding standards for the Truckee Meadows.
- Create a framework for the evaluation of projects.
- Formalize a Charter for working group involvement with Truckee Meadows Trails.
